PREFACE.

THE compiler of this genealogy became interested in the subject early in 1882, and continued the work until the completion of his direct line, when he commenced collecting data concerning the whole Richmond family.

Similar material had been gathered by the Rev. J. B. R. Walker previous to 1860, which he purposed some day to publish, but his death prevented the consummation of this intention. These records were purchased by the writer to preserve them from loss, but with no expectation at that time of completing the work. They were very incomplete and in great confusion, but contained much valuable information which would be difficult to secure at the present time.

Hon. Josiah H. Drummond, one of the most eminent lawyers in Maine, while engaged in historical and genealogical work, also became interested in the Richmond family, and made quite complete records of the first four generations. These he very kindly placed at the service of the writer; and the opportunity thus given of comparing these data and those of Mr. Walker with the results of his own labor enabled him to supply some missing links in the chain of the early generations. Thus the records of the first four generations, at least, should be correct, reliable, and satisfactory, since they bear the stamp of approval of the law, the church, and the layman.

Much information has been collected respecting the services of the Richmonds in the Colonial and Revolutionary Wars; but the compiler regrets that he cannot give more complete records of those members of the family who served in the War of the Rebellion; Congress having passed a law denying access to the records of the soldiers who served in the Civil War, the task of writing the full civil and military history of the Richmonds must be left to another, and until a change in the laws permits the public to have access to the roll of honor of their families.

The records of a very large number of families are completed up to 1896; but many close, in 1860, with the information found in the Walker papers, and all further trace of them is lost.

This record comprises the names of eight thousand five hundred and sixty (8560) male and female Richmonds, including children of the latter; also over eleven hundred grand- and great-grandchildren of females, although it was the original intention of the compiler to give only the children of female Richmonds. Computing the wives and husbands and the names of their parents, which are given in most cases, and some collateral lines, about eighteen thousand persons are mentioned.

No one can realize more fully than the compiler the errors which a book of this nature must necessarily contain; for, although the greatest care may be exercised, no genealogical work can be absolutely perfect or complete.

The orthography of most of the names, unless palpably wrong, has been recorded as received from correspondents. Changes, in the different generations, both in the Christian and surname, are too numerous to mention, and the writer cannot feel himself responsible for errors of his correspondents, the inaccuracy of town and family records, or mistakes in the Walker papers, as every effort has been made to verify the facts recorded.

The compiler improves this opportunity to express his grateful appreciation of the valuable assistance he has received, and, while not unmindful of the many others who have aided him, wishes especially to thank the Hon. Josiah H. Drummond, of Portland, Maine; Mrs. Mortimer Levering, of La Fayette, Ind.; Mrs. Theodore Richmond, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Jerome Smith, of Wichita, Kan. (now of New York City); Mr. C. P. Richmond and W. H. Richmond, of Appleton, Wis.; Mr. Fremont C. Richmond and Mr. Truman A. Perry, of Churchville, N. Y.; Mrs. Ellen Richmond Parsons, of Providence, R. I.; Mr. Enos Richmond, of Oshkosh, Wis.; Mr. A. D. Noble, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Charles King, of Little Falls, N. Y.; Irvin D. Richmond, of St. Johns, Mich.; John F. Richmond, of Riverside, R. I.; and Francis Richmond Allen, of Boston, Mass.

Few outside of those who have engaged in genealogical researches can appreciate the immense labor involved, or how much patience and perseverance is necessary to overcome exasperating delays and to interest apathetic correspondents. The kindness of many who have freely aided and encouraged the compiler in his work, combined with a certain fascination which attended it, has compensated, in a large degree, for the years devoted to this "labor of love," and he will feel that his efforts have been crowned with success if the Genealogy gives pleasure to the present members of the Richmond family. He closes his work with mingled pleasure and regret, — pleased that he has been able to record so much of the family history, and regret that he could not name every branch, flower, bud and leaf on the Richmond tree.

THE COMPILER.

INTRODUCTION.

THE PRE-AMERICAN RICHMONDS.

THE RICHMOND FAMILY had its origin in Brittany, France. The name is derived from the French words riche and monte or monde, and is first given in early English history as Rychemonde, later as Richemount and Richmonte, and finally as Richmond. The family name Richemonte may still be found in France.*

It is extremely difficult to follow ancestral lines previous to the founding of the Herald's College by Richard III, in 1483, so much is tradition engrafted in history.

The credit for tracing our English ancestors is mostly due to the nephew of the compiler, Henry I. Richmond, Jr., who has spent much time, in this country and in England, examining old wills and records, to enable the Richmonds to "read their title clear" to ancestors who served by the side of William the Conqueror on Hastings Field. Mr. Richmond's forte is Geology, which bears close relations to Genealogy, and he will not be satisfied until he discovers the bones of Richmonds in some ante-diluvian strata. It is possible that he may give the family a more complete and revised history of the English Richmonds at some future time.

The line of English ancestors given is also that of the Ashton-Keynes and other Wiltshire Richmonds: the former for five generations bore the alias of Webb, first assumed by William Richmond about 1430, when he married Alice, daughter and heiress of Thomas Webb of Draycott, Wiltshire, England.

Francis Thackeray, uncle of William Makepeace Thackeray, who descended from the Richmonds of Wiltshire, compiled the records of the ancestors of the Ashton-Keynes Richmonds. These records correspond with our line with one exception: he claims that we descend through Roald, the son of Roaldus "le Ennase," while General Plantagenet-Harrison, in his "History of Yorkshire," states that we descend from Alan, son of Roaldus "le Ennase," claiming that his son Roald had no children.

* The Rev. J. C. Richmond wrote: "If the children of Israel retain the physiognomy of their fathers nearly four thousand years ago, why should you be surprised at what I now relate? In 1830, while in Paris, I went to the Chamber of Deputies, and, seeing a sharply marked man speaking, I exclaimed to a friend, 'There's my father! Did you ever see my father?' I then inquired who was speaking, and a Frenchman answered, 'General de Richemonte.' Thus, after eight hundred years, the American retained the strong resemblance to the old Norman race; so without being aware that there was a Richmond in France, I saw my father's face in a Richemonte."

William Makepeace Thackeray wrote of Colonel John Richmond-Webb (whose name may be found in the Gazetteer of the English Army): "He came of a very ancient Wiltshire family, which he respected above all families in the world; he could prove a lineal descent from King Edward I, and his first ancestor, Roaldus de Richmond, rode by William the Conqueror's side on Hastings Field. 'We were gentlemen,' Colonel Webb used to say, 'when the Churchills were horse-boys.'"

Roaldus de Richmond was granted lands by the Crown in Yorkshire, and tradition informs us that this Richmond was a relative of Alan Rufus, but no positive proof of this statement has been found.

Alan Rufus was a kinsman of the Conqueror, and was granted lands in Yorkshire. He built Richmond Castle, and was the first Duke of Richmond.*

Tradition from many sources informs us that John Richmond was born in Ashton-Keynes. The Reverend J. C. Richmond claims that he was allowed to take the old church records at Ashton-Keynes, Wiltshire, to his lodgings, as a special favor, and asserts positively that he found the date of the baptism of John Richmond in 1597.

James Savage, in his Genealogical Dictionary, states: "Family tradition brings this John from Ashton-Keynes, a parish of Wiltshire, four and one-half miles west from Crichlade, where he was baptized in 1597." He died March 20, 1664, aged seventy years; therefore his birth occurred in 1594.

The compiler cannot state positively whether Ashton-Keynes, Radborne, or Christian Malford is the place of nativity of John Richmond, but it seems more than probable that he was born in the County of Wiltshire, and there is no doubt that the Wiltshire Richmonds descended from the Yorkshire Richmonds, who came from Brittany with William the Conqueror.†

* This title and estate is now held by the Lennox family. Our ancestors were Lords of the Manor and Constables of Richmond Castle, but no claim can be established to the Arms of the Duke of Richmond. The compiler cannot determine whether the ducal coronet in the Richmond Arms comes from our being a lineal descendant of King Edward I, as claimed by Col. John Richmond-Webb, from kinship with Alan Rufus, the first Duke of Richmond, or from later inter-marriage with some ducal family.

† The following extract from a letter of William E. Richmond to William R. Richmond, dated in Providence Dec. 31, 1865, may be of interest, and show how traditions have been passed down in the family: "I have thought best to give you this much of the family history while I may, as life is uncertain and my hand is not often in condition to write. It will be eight hundred years in October, 1866, since our predecessor from Brittany landed in Pevensey Bay, England, an officer in King William's Army. On the fourteenth of October was fought the great battle of Hastings, in which the Saxon King Harold and half of his army were killed, and England was subjected to the King. Our ancestor settled on land in Yorkshire given him by the King, etc. At a subsequent period a younger branch of this family settled in Wiltshire, England, where traces of them for many generations are still found in cemeteries and parish records. John Richmond was born at the Manor of Ashton-Keynes, and came to America with his sons John and Edward," etc., etc.

14. WILLIAM RICHMOND ALIAS WEBB of Stewkley Grange, Bucks County, and Over-Wroughton, Wilts, had £22 per annum, in land in the County of Wilts, 1565.‡ In Aubrey's Wills, p. 368, it is stated that "There was a grant of Church land (in Wroughton) by the Crown to William Richmond alias Webb, in the thirty-second year of the reign of Henry VIII (1541)." The Webb family had lands in Rudlow, Sherston and Magna; and in the twenty-second year of the reign of Elizabeth, a grant of land in Bishoptown or Bushton was made to William Webb. Dear Cousin:

. . . It is agreed by all that our ancestors first settled at Rodborne, Wilts; that two branches lived at Chedderton in Lyddiard Treygoze Parish, Wilts, and Brinkworth, Wilts. The farthest of our family I can trace is our grandfather who lived at Christian-Malford, Wilts, about three miles from Chippenham in the County. The house is now standing. Henry, our grandfather, had four wives and as I have been informed, twenty-five children, twelve of whom grew up to be men and women. Children by first wife: John and Henry (The Amisbury Branch*) now descending from John who killed his brother after (during?) the civil wars and cost our grandfather so much money to save his life that his estate was sold or irrecoverably mortgaged. Children by second wife: Peter, father to George and William. Children by third wife: Silvester †, Oliffe my father, James died at Campden in Gloucester County and left children, Francis died unmarried. Children by fourth wife: Jane, Edward, Mary died unmarried, Elizabeth married, but died without offspring, Thomasine married in Ashton Keynes and left children.

John and Henry our grandfather's sons were officers of distinction in the civil wars, one in the king's army and the other in Cromwell's, and our grandfather's home was often plundered by both armies, the king's party saying he had a son in Cromwell's party, and Cromwell's party that he had a son in the king's.

Your affectionate though unknown kinsman

OLIFFE RICHMOND.

* John Richmond of Amesbury, Wiltshire, who married a Mary Beckington in 1668, and had three sons and three daughters, whose births, etc., are recorded in Amesbury, must have been, according to the letter of Oliffe Richmond quoted above, a son or grandson of John Richmond of Taunton. It is barely possible that it is so, as John Richmond was about forty-one years old when he left England, which leaves ample time for a previous marriage in England, and would permit the Amesbury branch to claim the same ancestor.

† Dr. Sylvester Richmond, the brother of John Richmond, obtained great celebrity as a physician throughout the counties of Lancaster and Chester, and gained a large property. He was elected Mayor of Liverpool, and was actively engaged in supporting the royal cause during the agitations of that period. He married Sarah Tarleton, and had five sons and two daughters. Rev. Legh Richmond, author of "The Dairyman's Daughter," was one of his descendants. He died in 1692.

17. JOHN RICHMOND
eldest son; was an officer of distinction during the civil wars.*

THE MANOR HOUSE.

The Richmond Manor House was owned and occupied by Oliffe Richmond in the early part of the last century. The Manor comprised originally about four hundred acres, and the entire village of Ashton-Keynes belonged to this branch of the Richmond family.

By the marriage of Bridget, granddaughter of Oliffe Richmond, with Edward Nichols, the Richmond Manor House passed in 1768 into the Nichols family. They sold it in 1856 to the Duke of Cleveland. The Manor House was in a good state of preservation in 1896, when the accompanying views were taken.

TRADITIONS OF JOHN RICHMOND.

THE traditions recorded in the manuscript of the Rev. Legh Richmond, if true, would explain the mystery which shrouded the life of John Richmond. Soon after the death of his brother Henry, mentioned in this manuscript, it seems probable that he joined a colony of cadets of noble English families on the western coast of Ireland, who had chosen this remote spot where they could engage in commercial and other pursuits without shocking their aristocratic relatives. Here George Richmond, possibly a cousin of John Richmond, was established and largely interested in navigation. It is well known that he carried on an extensive and flourishing trade with Saco, Me., in 1635. It is the opinion of the writer that John Richmond came to America on one of these trading-vessels about 1635, and engaged in business in Saco. Records of Courts held at Saco in the Province of Maine, under Capt. William Gorges, mention sundry suits by and against John Richmond — among others, a suit by John Richmond "to collect from Thomas Lewis six pounds and ten shillings for two barrells of beife," showing that a John Richmond was engaged in trade in that place March 7, 1636.†

* "On the night preceding one of the engagements, Henry, his brother, went into the camp of the other army, eluded the vigilance of the sentinels, and reached John's tent in the hope of enjoying an affectionate interview previous to the uncertain events of the morrow. On entering the tent, John, alarmed at the sudden appearance of a stranger, as he conceived Henry to be, rose upon his bed and shot him dead upon the spot. When he discovered his mistake, it is said he became deranged." (Manuscript Book of Rev. Legh Richmond.)

† Savage states that John Richmond of Taunton may be the same John who is placed in Maine by Fulsom, p. 138.

RICHMOND MANOR HOUSE,

THE RICHMOND FAMILY IN AMERICA.

IT has been extremely interesting to trace the movements and study the characteristics and condition of the different generations of our family. John Richmond of Taunton, our ancestor, was a large landholder, and quite wealthy for that time. His sons, John [2] and Edward [2], were educated and refined gentlemen. They were interested in purchases of extensive tracts of land from the Indians, both in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

John [2] settled on the land of his father in Taunton, and was prominent in every important transaction connected with the town, his name appearing constantly in the records. Edward [2] lived in Newport, where he was Crown Solicitor and Attorney-General, and one of the leading men in the town. Later in life he settled and died in Little Compton, R. I., where he was a large landholder.

John and Edward divided their land among their children, and they in turn continued the division, and this generation was largely interested in real estate and agriculture. The subdivision of the land reduced the size of the farms, and the next generation was forced to seek new fields. Many followed trades and professions, while others occupied land in other sections of the country. The descendants of John first scattered over Massachusetts and Connecticut, then through the Middle Western States, and a few in the Northern and Northeastern States; while the offspring of Edward spread over Rhode Island, a large number settled in New York and the Western Lake States, and quite a large colony in the southwestern section of the country. Several of the descendants of both John and Edward removed to Canada on account of attachment for the mother country and religious scruples, being Quakers and non-combatants.

These early pioneers were a hardy race, of powerful frame and large stature. They were noted for great strength, and were proud of their skill with the axe. On "town-meeting day" they followed the old English custom of engaging in wrestling and other games to show their prowess, and a man was great according to his deftness in these manly sports. Family traditions state that the Richmonds carried away their full share of the trophies in these rustic tournaments.

It is positively known that John Richmond was one of the purchasers of Taunton in 1637. The birth of his daughter Sarah, in 1638, and of Mary, in 1639, probably occurred in Taunton, Mass., but his name does not appear in the list of men able to bear arms in 1643. Nothing seems to be known of him from 1643 to 1655, and tradition leads us to believe that he returned to England and engaged in the civil wars between the dates mentioned.

The compiler, in his childhood, always heard John Richmond referred to as "Col. John," and that he was engaged in the English civil wars, which, if true, would account for the absence of his name from all records in this country between 1643 and 1655, and the sad tragedy mentioned in the letter of Oliffe Richmond might have occurred during this time.

In his Will is the following bequest: "I give and bequeath unto my eldest son John all my writings * in my chest which is in my son-in-law Edward Rew's house." This treasure, now lost to us, would undoubtedly remove the mystery which surrounds his life, and furnish us with facts where we have only traditions.

Although somewhat vague and unsatisfactory, the compiler believes that the results of his researches relating to our English ancestors will prove of sufficient interest to the family to warrant their being included in this volume; but it is with undisguised satisfaction he turns from the region of "Quien sabe?" with its mysteries, romance and uncertain traditions, to the well established dates and facts concerning JOHN RICHMOND of Taunton.

* It will give the compiler great pleasure if anyone can give him information of this chest of "writings" of John Richmond; also of the silver-mounted sword and silver tankard of Sylvester Richmond[3] (page 17) — and "Father Richmond's desk," — the latter was left, by the will of Thomas Burgess, to his son Edward (page 16).

John and Edward, his sons, are known to have had excellent educations. That their father signed his will by his mark was undoubtedly the result of feebleness, as he refers to his writings in that document, which was made but a short time before his death.

tages, churches and literary meetings. They are decidedly more philosophical than ambitious in striving for this world's goods. Physically they have large frames, large heads, vigorous health and great endurance, and have an average length of life. They were generally well married, and the daughters were as intellectual as the sons, although not caring to take part in any public life."

Nearly every State, and in some States many counties, contains towns or villages founded by, or named after some prominent Richmond. These are our monuments.

The family is justly proud of the name of Richmond. Our ancestors have passed our escutcheon down to us untarnished. They contributed largely toward making our country greater and better, and seem to have had our motto ever in mind: "RESOLVE WELL AND PERSEVERE."

> "Some are and must be greater than the rest—
> More rich, more wise; but who infers from hence
> That such are happier, shocks all common sense.
> Condition, circumstance is not the thing:
> Bliss is the same in subject or in king."

"The cup that cheers" was not a stranger to the lips of some of these early settlers, and there was many a type of "Old King Cole;" such was the custom of that time, but in later years came the other extreme, and the family was strongly arrayed on the side of temperance, some members devoting their entire time to a crusade against intemperance and other evils of the day. A large proportion of the Richmonds were church-members and "lived according to the letter of the law." They were foremost in introducing religious and educational advantages in the new settlements.

The sons were manly, worthy and progressive citizens, and the daughters were their fit companions, ever ready to share in the hardships of pioneer life. They were vigorous in mind and body, and, if family records are correct, many of the daughters were beautiful in both character and person.

The family was very prominent in the Colonial Wars, and was also well represented in the War of the Revolution. The Richmonds have a grand record in the Civil War, nearly every family sending one or more members, and in some cases all the sons engaging in the service of their country. When the compiler was refused access to the war-records, the Chief of the Pension Bureau informed him that it would be a great task to give a full history of the Richmonds in the war, as the name appeared very frequently.

The family is now scattered over the country from the extreme north to the Gulf of Mexico, and are engaged in every occupation and profession. There are, both in the East and the West, many eminent clergymen, lawyers, professors, civil engineers, and a legion of school-teachers, both male and female.

There are also a large number of very successful merchants and manufacturers: many who have contributed largely to educational and charitable work, and founded and endowed hospitals, academies, colleges and churches.

In many States they have built towns which bear the family name. In the localities where they settled they erected the first grist- and saw-mills, foundries, cotton- and woollen-mills, rope-walks and paper-manufactories, and later built railroads and established sail- and steamboat-lines, and are possessed of untiring energy and perseverance. Being noted for their integrity, justice and liberality, and having broad minds, they stand high in their communities and hold many public offices and positions of trust. They are generous, genial and very hospitable.

A very bright and intelligent correspondent, well informed concerning the western branch of the Richmond family, expresses so tersely the compiler's views, that the report is given verbatim: —

"The men have been either farmers or professional men, rarely a poor or rich one among them. Both the men and women have been fond of reading, promoters of educational facilities in the earliest pioneer days, progressive but conscientious and tolerant Christians. Abolitionists in the slavery agitations, each family sending one or more representatives to the wars. Genial manners and purity of morals. Honorable in dealings, not very close in bargaining, and showing great affection in their families. Intellectual and having investigating minds, rather than great commercial ability; seeming to possess the Anglo-Saxon pioneer spirit to 'go west,' selecting fair and sightly spots on the government lands, and from the earliest settlement of their locality planning school advan-

EXPLANATION.

JOHN RICHMOND represents the First Generation, and his descendants are numbered as nearly as practicable in the order of their birth.

The minus sign (–) before a name denotes that the record of that person is carried no further.

The plus sign (+) indicates that the name has been carried forward, and further information may be found in the following generation, preceded by the family number in heavy figures. Under this heading the children will be found again numbered in smaller figures, which may be followed down from generation to generation so long as they are preceded by the plus sign.

The small figures placed after the names indicate the generation number.

In the list of children of male Richmonds, only the Christian name appears, but the full family name of female Richmonds is in nearly all cases given. The immediate context will explain any exceptions to the rule.

The names of the children of female Richmonds have been recorded, as far as obtainable, and in many cases the grand- and great-grandchildren. These may be found under the female ancestor's name, as only her own children and the names of persons to whom they were married appear in the Index.

If you desire to follow any line back to our first ancestor, take the parent's "family number" above the children you start from and seek for it in the preceding generation, proceeding in the same manner with previous generations until you arrive at the point desired.

The simplest form of index has been chosen, the generation number of all descendants being given, immediately followed by the family number in parentheses. On account of the frequent repetition of some Christian names it may in some instances require turning to several pages before finding the one desired; but if a note is made of the family number, subsequent references will become easy.

The names of children who died under eighteen years of age are omitted from the Index.

DEED,

THE RICHMOND FAMILY.

First Generation.

JOHN RICHMOND[1], the emigrant, was born in 1594; he came to America from Ashton Keynes, Wiltshire, England. He probably left England about 1635, and was one of the purchasers of Taunton in 1637. Undoubtedly he was married before he came to this country, but neither the name of his wife, the date of their marriage, nor the date of her death, has been found.

He was away from Taunton much of his life, — through the records he is known to have been at Newport and other places, — but he returned to Taunton and died there March 20, 1664, aged seventy.

CHILDREN:

+ 2. JOHN [2], born about 1627.
+ 3. EDWARD [2], born about 1632.
+ 4. SARAH [2], born about 1638.
+ 5. MARY [2], born about 1639.

The following records, without much doubt, refer to John Richmond, of Taunton: —

"To the Constable of Saco: These

"Febr. 7, 1636. Mr. Theophilus Davies against Mr. John Richmond, an action of Slander.

"Mr. Henry Broade, an action of trespass against Mr. Theop. Davies and Mr. John Richmond.

"March 6, 1636. John Richmond, an action of trespass against Mr. Tho. Lewis, and also a complaint against the said Lewis for detayning the said Richmond's servant.

"March 7, 1636. Mr. Thomas Lewis is by verdict of a jury to pay unto John Richmond six £ ten shillings, for two barrells of beife.

"March 14, 1636. John Richmond, an action against Mr. Tho. Lewis for detayning his servant against the law.

"May 2, 1637. Thomas Page, an action of trespass against John Richmond.

"June, 1637. John Richmond, an action for debt against Theoph. Davies."*

The court records close July 4, 1637, when Capt. William Gorges was recalled, and there are no further court records until 1640.

At "the sitting of the Council," in Newport, R. I., 1656 and 1657: —

"Upon the petition of Richard Ussel to the Court concerning an execution graunted to him, against Edward Richmond of Newport, for the sum of three pound, thirteen shillings, which execution being unserved by reason that noe estate was found to serve it on, and now being adjitiated in the Court of redress for same, here appeared John Richmond of Newport sen'r, and to this Court did pay," etc. *

"Court of Commissioners, 17th March, 1656. Mr. Roger Williams, Moderator.

"Case 22. Itt is ordered, that, Whereas, there are divers presentments standing uppon a booke of records (belonging to ye Island), against John Richmond, Sen'r, John Smith, George Blisse, Henrie Hobson, Henry Timberlake, and Bartholomew Hunt, all of Newport. These presentments shall not be, any of them, prosecuted, except by expresse orders from His Highness ye Lord Protector." †

He was one of the Commissioners, for Newport, of the Court of Commissioners, held at Portsmouth in 1656. He owned six shares in the original purchase of Taunton in 1637.

John Richmond [1] was one of the older men of the settlement in Taunton. His name does not appear in the list of males (able to bear arms) in 1643: he was in Rhode Island in 1655, and it is probable that he was there at that time or in England. He took the oath of fidelity in Taunton before 1640. The family were large land-owners in the easterly part of the town, and gave to a village in that section the name of Richmondtown, which it still bears.

Second Generation.

JOHN RICHMOND[2] (John[1]) was born about 1627, before his father came to this country. He married Abigail Rogers, daughter of John Rogers of Duxbury, born in 1641. He died October 7, 1715, aged eighty-eight, and she, August 1, 1727, aged eighty-six. Both are buried in Taunton, Mass.

CHILDREN:

+ 6. MARY[3], born June 2, 1654, in Bridgewater.
− 7. JOHN[3], born June 6, 1656, in Bridgewater; killed Sept. 20, 1672, by the upsetting of a cart.
− 8. THOMAS[3], born Feb. 2, 1659, in Newport, R.I.; died unmarried, in Middleboro, Dec. 14, 1705.
+ 9. SUSANNA[3], born Nov. 4, 1661, in Bridgewater.
+ 10. JOSEPH[3], born Dec. 8, 1663, in Taunton.
+ 11. EDWARD[3], born Feb. 8, 1665, in Taunton.
+ 12. SAMUEL[3], born Sept. 23, 1668, in Taunton.
+ 13. SARAH[3], born Feb. 26, 1671, in Taunton.
+ 14. JOHN[3], born Dec. 5, 1673, in Taunton.
+ 15. EBENEZER[3], born May 12, 1676, in Newport, R. I.
+ 16. ABIGAIL[3], born Feb. 26, 1679, in Newport, R. I.

There is no specific authority for the statement that he had a wife before Abigail Rogers; but the inscription upon her gravestone makes her age eighty-six at her death, August 1, 1727: that would fix her birth at 1641; so she would have been only thirteen years old when Mary was born. Deeds of the land of John Rogers show that Joseph Richmond was the son of Abigail. It is probable that John Richmond[2] had a previous wife, who died in 1662, and that he married Abigail Rogers early in 1663.

That Thomas died unmarried is shown by a deed from James Reed of Middleboro, and Susanna, his wife, dated December 20, 1705, to Edward Richmond of Taunton, of all rights, &c., in the estate of "our brother Thomas," late of Taunton, deceased: the deed was proved April 16, 1706; also by deed from John of Taunton, dated and acknowledged February 7, 1705–6, to sons Edward of Taunton, and Ebenezer of Plymouth, of the land "my son Thomas lived on."

John Richmond[2], on March 21, 1712–13, and July 16, 1713, conveyed land to his son Edward.

John Richmond[2] and James Walker were appointed to buy land of Indians, 1672. He was of Town Council February 29, 1675–6, also in 1690. There is a deed of John Richmond[2] conveying to his son John, for £400, his house-lot and dwelling-house, "where he now dwells," and various lots of land. On September 28, 1671, Wm. Brenton, Jas. Walker, Wm. Harvey, Walter Deane and John Richmond bought land from Philip and his head men: the tract included Taunton, of which the purchasers were already in possession. October 1, 1672, there was another sale to the same parties.*

He was Constable, member of the Town Council, Commissioner and Surveyor. His residence at "Neck of Land" was about three-quarters of a mile from the "Green" or Center. He and his wife are buried there.

He was a distributor, in March, 1677, of £10, being Taunton's apportionment of £363. 3*s*. "Irish Charity," sent from Dublin, Ireland, in 1676, "to distressed sufferers" by King Philip's War, and apportioned among the people of forty-seven towns. John Richmond[2] was a member of every important committee in Taunton for the purchase, division and settlement of land and other matters of public interest. He was interested in several extensive purchases of land from the Indians in both Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Concerning one purchase for the town of Taunton is the following record: "On 25th May, 1680, Town voted to accept what the committee had done, &c., concerning settlement of our lands." John Richmond[2] took his share "on rights that was his father's, and on rights that was Mr. Francis Doubty's (Doughty)."

In a communication from John Richmond[2], dated Taunton, April 30, 1698, addressed to Lieut.-Col. Elisha Hutchinson, Esq., Capt. Samuel Lowell, Esq., and Elisha Cook, Esq., Boston, he mentions the first purchase of Taunton as a matter within his personal knowledge, which should settle that question. After referring to a dispute with Bridgewater men about town boundaries, and to what his neighbor Hathaway had said, he proceeds: —

"And, first, I desire it may be considered how inconsistent to justice their sense is, for they say and sense it that although Taunton hath the eldest grant, yet it is theirs notwithstanding, because it was granted before: and although it be Taunton's by purchase from the Indians three times over, — for we bought it first of Woosamequin in the year '39 or '40 [this was in my minority], the sum paid I know not; then we bought all again from Philip, and paid him sixteen pounds for it; then we bought that very spot of Josiah, he claiming some land there, as appears by his deed; then we bought that spot again, with other lands, of Maj. Bradford: he had twenty pounds more; — they have owned that they never made any purchase, yet theirs because granted," etc. †

This matter is also referred to in the History of Bristol County, Mass., in the following words: —

"Dighton, as is well known, was once a part of Taunton. It was called the Taunton South Purchase, and was bought by a company of Taunton men of the Sachem Philip for one hundred and ninety pounds, lawful money. The land was bought in two sections and at two different times. The first section was stated to be three miles broad on the river, and extended back into the woods four miles.

"The deed of the first section was dated the 28th day of September, 1672, and the consideration mentioned was one hundred and forty-three pounds. The land was conveyed to a committee of the associates consisting of William Benton, Esq., William Harvey, James Walker[1], Richard Williams, Walter Deane, George Macy, and John Richmond[2], who transferred the deed, excepting their own rights, to the Rev. George Shove, third minister of Taunton, and seventy-six associates or proprietors of the land. The second section purchased was on the south side of the first section, and was one mile wide on the river and four miles in length. The price paid for it was forty-seven pounds, and the deed was dated Oct. 1st, 1672. It was ostensibly bought by Constant Southworth, treasurerer of the Plymouth Colony, who immediately transferred the deed to the committee of the associates mentioned." *

3. CAPTAIN EDWARD RICHMOND[2] (John[1]) was born about 1632, and probably before his father came to this country. He married, first, Abigail, daughter of James Davis, and secondly, Amy Bull, daughter of Governor Henry and Elizabeth Bull. He died November, 1696.

CHILDREN BY FIRST WIFE:

+17. ABIGAIL[3], born 1656.
+18. EDWARD[3], born 1658.
+19. JOHN[3], born about 1660.
+20. ELIZABETH[3], born Dec. 6, 1666.
+21. MARY[3], born 1668.
+22. ESTHER[3], born 1669.
+23. SILVESTER[3], born 1672; baptized at Little Compton, R. I., Nov. 3, 1700.
−24. SARAH[3].

CHILDREN BY SECOND WIFE:

+25. HENRY[3], born at Little Compton, R. I.
+26. ANN[3], born at Little Compton, R. I.

The order of births is not known, but it is believed that the above is very nearly, if not accurately, correct.

He and his wife Amy joined in a deed, August 20, 1685.

He conveyed, February 16, 1691–2, to Henry Bull, his "Father-in-law" and "Grandfather of my two youngest children," certain land in trust for them and "my now wife, Amy," referring in it to a deed to his son Edward, made May 20, 1686.

The inventory of his estate was filed December 8, 1696, and on the twentieth of the same month his estate was divided among Edward, eldest son; son John, for himself and his sister, Abigail Remington; William Palmer, John Palmer, Silvester Richmond, Sarah Richmond and Thomas Burdges. (The two Palmers and Burdges [Burgess] were husbands of his daughters.)

The executors of Henry Bull (who died January 22, 1693–4), settled an account, March 2, 1709, in which they reported payment of Henry and Ann Richmond's legacy of £60.

On May 20, 1657, Abigail Davis petitioned the Assembly, alleging that her step-father John Cowdall and her mother had forced her into a marriage with Richard Ussell, and later in the same year the Assembly declared that the marriage was unlawful and that she was free to marry Edward Richmond, whom she declared in her petition to be her choice.†

When old Portsmouth was divided and Newport organized, Portsmouth was reorganized, and James Davice (Davis) signed (by his mark), April 30, 1639, forming "the body politick" of Portsmouth: and in the list of the inhabitants of Acquednic Island (who had become such by consent of the government), dated

* History of Bristol County, Mass.

† See Colonial Records, Vol. I, p. 359, etc.

September 1, 1640, James Davis's name appears; it does not appear again, and as there were no other of the name (save, possibly, Nicholas, who lived till 1671), it would seem that he was the father of Abigail Davis, and at the time Abigail married Edward Richmond, he had died and his widow had married John Cowdall.

Edward Richmond[2] is frequently mentioned in the Colonial Records, under the following dates: —

"1661, Sep. 9. He had a share in Misquamicut (Westerly) lands appointed to him.

"1663, Dec. 14. He had a legacy of forty acres, and wearing apparel, from the will of his father, John Richmond of Taunton.

"1667-69-70-72. General Solicitor.

"1676, Aug. 6. It was voted by the Assembly "that Lieutenant Edward Richmond, with his company, shall be allowed and have the one-half of the produce of the seven Indians they brought in." By an act of the Assembly certain Indian men and women able for service were to be sold for nine years.

"1676, Aug. 23. He was clerk of a court martial that was held for the trial of four Indians, who, according to the sentence of the court, were executed.

"1677, Jun. 11. He and three others were appointed to go to such persons in Newport as they see cause, to know who will advance money for the Colony's use in sending the agents to England.

"1677, Oct. 31. He and forty-seven others were granted 5,000 acres to be called East Greenwich.

"1677-78-79-80. Attorney-General.

"1678-79. Deputy.

"1680. Taxed 14*s.*

"1683, June 6. Little Compton. He took oath of fidelity.

"1683-84-85-89-90. Selectman.

"1686. Deputy.

"1686, June 4. Lieutenant. On the same date he was fined £5, for furnishing an Indian with some rum or strong liquor.

"1690, May 20. Captain.

"1691, Aug. 7. He and his children were mentioned in the will of his sister, Sarah Stoughton, wife of Nicholas.

"1692, Feb. 2. He bought of Daniel Wilcox, the twenty-seventh lot in Little Compton for £50.

"1692, Feb. 16. He sold to "my father-in-law," Henry Bull, of Newport, being grandfather to my two youngest children, 120 acres in Little Compton, for £80, for the use and behoof of my two youngest children, Henry and Ann, with housing, garden, &c., reserving to self and wife Amey, the whole profits for life.

"1696, Dec. 8. Inventory, £326, 6*s.*, sworn to by the administrator Edward Richmond, eldest son of deceased. 2 oxen, 6 cows, 4 heifers, 2 yearlings, 5 calves, 2 mares, 3 colts, 2 horses, sheep, 2 fat swine, 8 lean swine, 18 loads of hay, pewter, cheese press, warming pan, arms, stillyards, sundry pieces of land, &c.

"1696, Dec. 20. His estate was divided among his children as follows: To eldest son Edward, land £36, 3*s.*, 4*d.*, movables £27, 16*s.*, 6*d.* To John Richmond, in his own right and right of sister Abigail Remington, land £36, 3*s.*, 4*d.*, movables £27, 16*s.*, 6*d.* To William Palmer, land £18, 1*s.*, 8*d.*, movables, £13, 3*s.*, 3*d.*, and a like amount each to John Palmer, Silvester Richmond, Sarah Richmond and Thomas Burge.

"He was a member of the Church of England, according to the testimony of his daughter Abigail Gardiner, who deposed to that effect in 1738, calling herself in her eighty-second year."*

Edgar H. Reed has the following memorandum in his "Reed Genealogy": "The will of Mary Richmond, the mother of the wife of William Reed, makes mention of children as follows: son, Joseph Richmond; daughter, Margaret Richmond; daughter, Mary Reed; daughter, Abigail Gooding; son, John Richmond; son, Christopher Richmond; son, Henry Richmond; son, Josiah Richmond; and two daughters of son William Richmond. Dated February 14, 1737."

This will is not on record in either Plymouth or Bristol counties; for some reason it was not probated, but was preserved and finally came into the possession of some one who permitted Deacon Reed to copy the foregoing paragraph. He and his wife acknowledged the receipt of her interest in her father's (Henry Andrews) estate, March 28, 1707. They sold land to Henry Andrews, July 19, 1701.

Joseph and his son Christopher were in the Canada expedition of 1711.

Joseph and Mary his wife sold their homestead on the road from Taunton to Middleboro, containing forty acres, to their two sons Joseph and Henry; he acknowledged the deed, July 13, 1724, and she, March 11, 1726: "Lieut. Joseph Richmond of Taunton, to my son John of Middleboro, that 100 acre lot, which formerly belonged to John Rogers, whereon my said son John now dwells, except about 30 acres which I have given to my son Christopher. 28 July, 1724."

The dates of birth of children of the first wife are correct within less than one year, being computed from the date of death and the age at that time.

The will, dated June 3, 1738, probated Dec. 9, 1741 (Vol. 10, p. 111), mentions wife Mary Richmond; sons Edward, Nathaniel and Seth of Taunton, and Josiah of Middleboro; and daughters, Mary Burt, Mercy Walker, Priscilla Hackett, Sarah Crane, Elizabeth Hatheway and Phebe Elliott; and brother John Richmond. He reserves one quarter of an acre for a burying place "for myself and posterity, at the place where the burying place is already begun." The witnesses to the will are John Richmond, John Richmond, Jr., and Elkanah Leonard; Elizabeth Hatheway is mentioned in the will, but not in its record.

He and Joseph bought one hundred and fifty acres of land in Middleboro, of John Rogers of Duxbury, in 1687.

The descendants of Nathaniel[4] say that he was born about 1700; that he was killed at the siege of Louisburg; that he left a son Nathaniel, who married his second cousin, Mary Richmond (daughter of John and Dighton (Mirick) Richmond); that this last Nathaniel was born about 1731, and died in 1813, at Camillus, New York.

12. SAMUEL RICHMOND[3] (John[2], John[1]) was born in Taunton, September 3, 1668. His will, dated June 11, 1736, probated July 20, 1736 (Vol. 8, p. 375), names wife Elizabeth; sons Thomas, Silas, Samuel and Oliver; daughters Hannah Booth, "Lidiah" Thomas and Mehitable Lawton; and "cousin" (nephew) Joseph Richmond, to assist executors.

Widow Elizabeth, acknowledging the deed at Raynham, releases to Thomas, August 5, 1736; John King and Joseph Richmond, witnesses.

13. SARAH RICHMOND[3] (John[2], John[1]) was born in Taunton, February 7, 1670–1. She married, October 6, 1699, James Walker, son of James and Bathsheba (Brooks) Walker, born January 23, 1674–5. He died September 12, 1749, and she, November 27, 1727.

He bequeathed to daughter Mary, £150 in case she married; if she did not marry, then John was to maintain her. John[3] conveyed the homestead to John[4], February 12, 1712–13.

15. EBENEZER RICHMOND[3] (John[2], John[1]) was born in Newport, R. I., May 12, 1676. He married, before 1701, Anna Sproat, daughter of Robert and Elizabeth (Sampson) Sproat of Scituate, born in 1671. He died in 1729.

He was described, in a deed dated March 10, 1700–1, and again, April 6, 1708, as of Middleboro, but in a deed dated December 6, 1705, as of Plymouth. He was chosen constable in 1706, and on jury of trials in 1717. The First Middle Church Record states that he moved to West Plymouth, February 13, 1715.

His will, dated April 7, 1729, proved July 8, 1729 (Plym. Co., Vol. 7, p. 419), mentions wife Anna; eldest son Ebenezer; sons Robert and Silvester; and daughters Anna and Rachel Richmond, and Elizabeth, wife of Edward Washburn; and these sign an agreement allowing the will.

In a deed, dated June 16, 1723 (Plym. Co., B. 12, p. 32), from Thomas Oldman and Mercy his wife, Ephriam Kean and Hannah his wife, and Ebenezer Richmond and Anna his wife, the three wives are described as daughters of Robert Sproat of Scituate.

A deed from James Sproat and Ebenezer Richmond and Anna his wife, dated April 1, 1729, and acknowledged April 17, 1729 (Plym. Co., B. 25, p. 50), witnessed by Robert Richmond, conveys land "laid out in the right of our honored father, Robert Sproat."

Robert Sproat, who died in Middleboro in 1712, mentions in his will his daughter Ann Richmond.

Silvester Richmond 3 (with others) was baptized at Little Compton, November 3, 1700.* He was one of the original members of the First Congregational Church. His wife united with the church the following year.

May 29, 1701, he bought of John Rogers, of Boston, merchant, a tract of land in Little Compton, for £83; the grantor calling him son-in-law.†

Feb. 8, 1704, he bought forty acres in Little Compton for £60, of William Earle. Col. Richmond bought, sold and possessed a large amount of property.

* Hist. Gen. Reg., Vol. 22, p. 267.

† Bristol Co. Deeds, Vol. 23.

Feb. 7, 1727, he made a covenant with Deborah Loring and Caleb Loring, previous to his marriage to said Deborah.

In 1732, Perez Bradford of Milton, William Richmond and Nathaniel Searles, all of Little Compton, were appointed to settle the estate of their grandfather, John Rogers, late of Barrington, deceased. Complaint was made about the manner of settling the estate by some of the heirs, viz., Silvester Richmond, Ichabod Richmond, and Ephriam Atwood, who had married Ruth Richmond, daughter of Silvester.

His will, dated December 29, 1752, proved December 3, 1754 (Vol. 14, pp. 236 to 240), describes him as of Dartmouth, Mass., and contains the following items: —

"Ex., son Peleg. To wife Deborah, £18, 6*s.* 8*d.*, riding chaise, easy chair and silver tankard, for her use, and what things she brought at marriage agreeable to covenant between self and wife and Caleb Loring, before marriage, dated 1727, Feb. 7. To wife also maintenance by testator's son Perez out of estate I shall give him. To son William, all lands joining his homestead in Little Compton, he paying my grandson Gamaliel Richmond, son of Peleg, £13, 6*s.* 8*d.*, and to my granddaughter Mary Paine, who was daughter of my daughter Sarah, deceased, £13, 6*s.* 8*d.* To son Sylvester, 30 acres in Dartmouth and £205, 13*s.* 4*d.* paid him by my son Perez. To son Peleg, 200 Spanish milled dollars, half of it in live stock. To son Ichabod, £33, 6*s.* 8*d.* and 3 acres in Little Compton and use of room in west end of my dwelling house and a bed. To son Rogers, £200, half in stock. To daughter Elizabeth, £40, and silver tankard at death of wife, and if Elizabeth die before wife, then the tankard to go to grandson and granddaughter Fisher, children of said Elizabeth. To daughter Ruth, £40 and two silver spoons. To daughter Mary, £20. To granddaughter Mary Paine, £5. To grandson Sylvester, son of Sylvester, my silver hilted sword. To grandson Joshua, son of Perez, a brace of pistols and holsters. To grandson Sylvester, son of William, three halberts and a fire lock gun. To grandson Richmond Loring, son of my daughter Mary, £20. To negroes Nat and Kate, their freedom. To daughter Elizabeth, £6, a feather bed, and other household stuff. To daughters Ruth and Mary, a bed and £6, each. To son Perez, my now dwelling house and homestead farm, and the rest of real and personal estate, he supporting my aged wife and giving to his brothers Peleg and Ichabod, a suit of apparel, each."

He was commissioned as lieutenant, July 25, 1710; as colonel, April 25, 1742, by which title he was afterwards known; also as Justice of the Peace in 1711 and 1729. (See Commissions.)

He had quite a large number of slaves, and, long before the Revolution, liberated and settled them in some woodlands in Dartmouth, Mass. (Dartmouth Woods). There is a ridge of land in that town which was settled almost wholly by negroes who were the descendants of the emancipated slaves of Col. Richmond.

The following inscriptions are from the tombstones in the old cemetery in Little Compton, R. I.: —

"Colon. Sylvestre Richmond of Dartmouth. Died Nov. 22, 1754. In the 81st year of his age."

"Elizabeth, wife of Colonel Sylvestre Richmond. Died Oct. 23, 1724. In the 52 year of her age."

"Deborah, the relict of Colonel Sylvestre Richmond, formerly wife of Thomas Loring. Died Oct. 18, 1770. Ætates 96."

The Boston Newsletter of June 17, 1717, contained the following obituary notice: —

"Little Compton, May 31, 1717. This morning died here, Mrs. Wm. Pabodie, in the ninety-third year of her age. She was a daughter of John Alden, Esq., and Priscilla Mullins, daughter of Mr. William Mullins. She was exemplarily virtuous and pious, and her memory is blessed.

"Mr. Mullins and his wife, his sone, and his servant, dyed the first winter: only his daughter Priscilla survived and married with John Alden."

GENEALOGY OF ELIZABETH (PABODIE) ROGERS,

Who married Colonel Silvester Richmond 3 (son of Captain Edward Richmond 2, John 1).

HON. JOHN ALDEN. John Alden was one of the pilgrims of Leyden, who came over in the Mayflower to Plymouth in 1620. He was about twenty-two years of age when he arrived, and was one of those who signed the original Civil Compact, adopted by the first adventurers at Cape Cod Harbor on the 15th of November. This was a few days previous to their finding and selecting a place for the commencement of their settlement at Plymouth. He was single, and appears to have been an inmate of the family of Captain Miles Standish. He was the stripling who first leaped upon the rock, as mentioned by Mr. Adams. For the romance of his marriage with Priscilla Mullins, see Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish," and Jane Austin's "Betty Alden." He built his house on a rise of land near Eagle Tree Pond, where the ruins of his mill are still to be seen. Priscilla died in 1650. John Alden died September 12, 1687.

THE PAYBODY FAMILY.*

Ancestors of Elizabeth (Pabodie) Rogers, who married Silvester Richmond[3].

JOHN PAYBODY[1], who, as far as can be ascertained, is the progenitor of all of that name in this country, however varied the name may be from the original orthography, was born in England about 1590, and is supposed to have emigrated to New England in or near the year 1635.

It is most probable, by the absence of his name from the list of passengers, that he did not come in the same vessel with his son Francis, but at some other time, and most likely with his youngest son William, as we find them named together in the list of the original proprietors of Plymouth. In 1637, John was the owner of ten acres of land at Bluefish; he was admitted freeman January 2, 1637–38, and, with William, was named as one of the original proprietors of Bridgewater in 1645. His will is dated July 15, 1649. He died at Bridgewater about 1666. Married Isabel ——, who survived him.

ANNIS, married John Rouse, who is named with William as one of the original proprietors of Little Compton, originally Seaconnet.

WILLIAM PAYBODY[2], born in England, 1619–20; died in Little Compton, December 3, 1707. Married, December 26, 1644, Elizabeth Alden, born 1624–25; she died May 31, 1717. He settled at Plymouth with his father, but afterwards removed to Duxbury, where he held many offices of trust and responsibility, and was generally much employed in public affairs; he was Representative in 1659–78. He owned considerable land in Duxbury; was one of those to whom Bridgewater was set off in 1645; was one of the first proprietors of Freetown in 1659, and was also one of the original proprietors of Sakonet, or Little Compton, in 1675, whither he removed with his family about 1684.

CHILDREN:

JOHN, born Oct. 4, 1645; died Nov. 17, 1669. The verdict of the coroner's inquest assembled to investigate his death, was as follows: "His horse carryed him underneath the bow of a young tree, and violently forcing his head into the body thereof, broke his skull."

25. HENRY RICHMOND[3] (Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I. He married Jemima Smith, daughter of Captain John Smith. He died September 30, 1714; no children.

By deed, dated September 13, 1714, Henry Richmond of Boston, and

* Referred to as the Rhode Island Branch. Compiled by Mr. B. Frank Pabodie.

Jemima, his wife (with others), said Jemima and others being children "of Capt. John Smith of Winnisimmet, in Boston aforesaid, deceased," convey to their brother John Brinterall, who married Phebe, another daughter of said John Smith deceased, all claims upon land in Rumney and all personal property of said Smith. The deed, however, is not signed by Henry Richmond, and was acknowledged by Jemima, December 23, 1714.*

On May 23, 1716, Jemima Richmond was appointed administrator on the estate of her husband, Henry Richmond, late of Boston, deceased. One of the papers on file is a letter from North Carolina signed by Caleb Bundy, to Jemima Richmond, dated May 20, 1715, wherein he states that he had written two previous letters from which he had not heard, and that her husband, Henry Richmond, died September 31, 1714, having given a will, bequeathing all to his wife. On May 26, 1716, a petition was filed to cite Thomas Hendys and John Bundy as having in their hands funds of the estate of Henry Richmond, late of Boston, deceased, and an order was issued; but other papers are on file, and of these only the letters are recorded. It would seem that the administration was taken out to compel a settlement, and that a settlement was effected and no other proceedings had. These papers make it quite certain that there were no children.†

26. ANN RICHMOND[3] (Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I. She married, April 6, 1704, Henry Tew, son of Henry and Dorcas Tew. She died, and he married again, and died in 1731.

CHILDREN (born in Newwort, R. I.):

163. AMY TEW[4], born May 18, 1707; died Dec. 23, 1708.
164. ANN TEW[4], born Nov. 2, 1709.
165. ELIZABETH TEW[4], born March 19, 1711; died July 2, 1711.
166. EDWARD TEW[4], born Aug. 8, 1712; died Sept. 3, 1714.
167. AMY TEW[4], born June 1, 1714; died Dec. 23, 1718 (?).

169. EDWARD TEW[4], born Sept. 4, 1717; died Sept. 3, 1719.
170. DORCAS TEW[4], born Sept. 21, 1719.

He had two children (John and Elizabeth) by his second wife. His inventory was returned December 31, 1731. His will was offered for probate, but on account of interlineations and erasures, probate was denied, March 6, 1732.

JOSEPH RICHMOND[4] (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]) was born in Middleboro. He married, first, Hannah Deane, daughter of Benjamin and Sarah (Williams) Deane, born December 26, 1682. She died, and he (then of Taunton) married, secondly, April 20, 1736, Abigail (Phillips) French, widow of Joseph French, Jr., and daughter of James Phillips.

Abigail Richmond of Berkeley, late widow of Joseph French, Jr., executed a deed, March 1, 1747. As widow of Joseph Richmond[4], she was appointed guardian of their children,—Wealthy, daughter, and Perez, son.

54. MARY RICHMOND[4] (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]) was born in Middleboro in 1699. She married, June 8, 1721, William Reed, son of John and Bethiah (Frye) Reed. The will of William Reed of Taunton, dated March 31, 1726, probated July 16, 1734 (Vol. 8,), mentions wife Mary; sons William and John, and daughter Mary. The sons were then not twenty-one, and the daughter, Mary, then the youngest, not eighteen. Abigail is not mentioned in the will, and evidently was born after its date. The inventory of his property amounted to £685. 19*s.* 10*d.*

Stephen Andrews was a man of learning and piety and was known by his neighbors as "St. Stephen." He lived to the age of one hundred years. William Reed went to Rochester about 1744. He had four children, William, Abigail, Margaret and Lydia.

55. ABIGAIL RICHMOND[4] (Joseph[3], John[2], John[1]) was born in Middleboro. She married Matthew Gooding, son of George and Deborah (Walker) Gooding, born June 12, 1695. He died in Dighton, March 15, 1756.

187. JOB GOODING[5], born April 24, 1739; married July 8, 1774, Mary Claggett of Newport, R. I., and had eight children. He was a sea-captain.

There is no record of Abigail's death on the Town books, and no inscription on her gravestone.

116. STEPHEN RICHMOND 4 (John 3, Edward 2, John 1) was born in Kingston, R. I., August 3, 1704. He married Mary Lawton of Newport and Seaconnet, R. I., who was born September 23, 1703. +333. ANNE 5, born June 8, 1750; married *Thomas Lawton.

Of the children, Edward and Ann were born in Richmond, R. I., the others having been born in Westerly.

Stephen Richmond 4 was admitted freeman of Westerly the last Tuesday of February, 1729–30. He was Deputy for 1756. In the index of Vol. IV of the Colonial Records of Rhode Island, appears the name of "Samuel Richmond," referring to p. 436; but the name is not found on that page, and Samuel Rathbone is. "Samuel Rathbone" is not found in index: in making the index, "Samuel Richmond" was undoubtedly written for "Samuel Rathbone."

At the first town meeting in Richmond, Stephen Richmond 4 and James Adams were appointed to receive the votes. He was Rate-maker; Moderator in 1749; President of Town Council in 1749 and 1750; and held many other offices. He owned two hundred and fifteen acres of land in the west part of Exeter, about half of Fisher's Island, and the Watch Hill farm in Westerly, R. I.

337. HANNAH HULL 5, born May 13, 1736.

Sarah, Tristram and Hannah are mentioned in the will of their grandfather, John Richmond 3. (See ante, No. 19.)

The dates are taken from the South Kingston records, or from dates of deaths therein recorded.

* Richmond Records.

Joseph Hull's will, dated May 5, 1785, proved July 13, 1785, does not mention Sarah or Hannah.

From the nanner in which Priscilla[4] is mentioned in her father's will, she evidently had died before its date, February 24, 1739–40. (See ante, No. 19.)

CONTRACT WITH INDIAN SERVANT.

FACSIMILE OF SIGNATURES OF WILLIAM RICHMOND[4] (151) AND OTHERS.

His will, dated July 5, 1766, proved April, 1770, mentions sons Barzillai, Ephraim, William, Perez, Thomas and Sylvester; daughters Elizabeth Brownell, wife of Jonathan; Mary Ware, wife of Dr. George Ware; Sarah Walker, wife of David Walker; and Abigail Pitts, wife of Peter Pitts; daughter-in-law Hannah, wife of son William; grandson Gilbert, son of son Ichabod, deceased; granddaughter Anna, daughter of Ephraim.

Hon. William Richmond 4 was one of the Assistants of the Governor from 1753 to 1755. He was a Judge, and instrumental in locating the line securing Little Compton to Rhode Island. He was Town Clerk, March 15, 1731.

Silvester 3 in his will mentions his "grandson Silvester, son of my son William."

Thomas Gray, in his will, gave his daughter Anna "a negro woman and a Bible." On March 28, 1728, Jack Richmond married Peggy Gray; undoubtedly Jack was a negro servant of William Richmond, and married Peggy Gray, the negro woman given to Mrs. Richmond by her father. Banns of Jack Richmond (probably the same Jack) and Phebe Merigo were published in Little Compton, September 24, 1743.

152. ELIZABETH RICHMOND 4 (Silvester 3, Edward 2, John 1) was born in Little Compton, R. I., May 10, 1696. She married, November 1, (December 15, L. C.), 1715, Rev. Nathaniel Fisher, son of Daniel and Mary (Fuller) Fisher, born April 5, 1687. He died August 30, 1777, aged ninety-one, and she, September 26 (23, G. S.), 1765, in the seventieth year of her age.

CHILDREN (born in Dighton):

354. ABIGAIL FISHER 5, died in 1748; married George Bowers, Feb. 28, 1739–40. Their child Elizabeth died Sept. 9, 1748, aged 3 years.
355. ELIZABETH FISHER 5, married Job Winslow, Sept. 29, 1743.
356. NATHANIEL FISHER 5, born May 6, 1725; died Aug. 1, 1728.
357. JEREMIAH FISHER 5, born Sept. 22, 1728; married, 1st, Ruth Walker, daughter of Col. Elnathan Walker, and had son, Nathaniel, born Oct. 25, 1756; married, 2d, Margaret King of Norton, in 1760 (banns published April 5, 1760). The family moved to Canandaigua County (Western New York), where descendants still live.
358. NATHANIEL FISHER 5, born Dec. 20, 1733; died May 2, 1748.

The Dighton Town Records do not give dates of birth of the daughters. It is probable that there were other children, who died young.

The will of Silvester 3 (1752) gives to his daughter Elizabeth Fisher a tankard at death of his wife; but if his wife survive her, "then the tankard to go to grandson and granddaughter Fisher, children of said Elizabeth" (Elizabeth and Jeremiah).

Rev. Nathaniel Fisher was born in Dedham. He graduated at Harvard in 1706, and was ordained in Dighton in 1711. He was the first minister of Dighton; his salary was £50 (1759).

153. (HON. AND COL.) SYLVESTER RICHMOND 4 (Silvester 3, Edward 2, John 1) was born in Little Compton, then known as Dartmouth, Mass., June 30, 1698. He married Elizabeth Talbut, daughter of Jared, 2d, and Rebecca Talbut of Dighton, born June 14, 1699. He was Sheriff of Bristol, County. He died January 14, 1783, in his eighty-fifth year, and she, June 23, 1772, in her seventy-third year. He removed from Little Compton, R. I., to Dighton, Mass., about 1723.

CHILDREN:

+359. EZRA[5], born Jan. 20, 1721; married Mary Baylies.
+360. REBECCA[5], born Feb. 12, 1723; married, Aug. 15, 1751, Constant Southworth.
+361. ELIZABETH[5], born Dec. 22, 1726; married Thomas Scales.
+362. SYLVESTER[5], born Nov. 20, 1729; married Abigail Nightingale.
+363. HANNAH[5], born Sept. 17, 1731; married Joseph Andrews.
+364. MARY[5], born March 10, 1733–4; married, 1st, Samuel Buckman, 2d, Col. Jotham Loring.
−365. RUTH[5]. born March 18, 1736–7; died unmarried, in Dighton.
+366. JOHN[5], born March 12, 1738–39; married, 1st, Margaret Lee, 2d, Mrs. —— Atwood.
+367. NATHANIEL[5], born March 12, 1738–39; married, 1st, Anna Brownell, 2d, Rebecca Shaw.

The first two children were born in Little Compton, and the others in Dighton.

The will of Jared Talbut of Dighton, dated January 16, 1733–4, proved February 19, 1733–4 (Wills, Vol. 8), mentions (among others) wife Rebecca and daughter Elizabeth. He receipted to Capt. Perez Richmond, in 1755, for property left him by his father, Col. Silvester[3].

Sylvester[4] lived at the foot of Richmond Hill, and his son Sylvester lived there after him. He had ninety-two acres of land in Little Compton, and one hundred and twenty-three in Dighton.

On August 19, 1723, Col. Sylvester's father deeded "a certain tract of land" to him, "being ye lower end of ye three lots on which Samuel Talbut now dwells, said tract being purchased by me of said Samuel Talbut." (See Taunton Deeds, Vol. 55, p. 298.) On the same date, Jared Talbut, Esq., of Dighton, "for good will, etc., to his son-in-law Sylvester and his daughter Elizabeth Richmond, both of Little Compton," deeded to them "four lots of land in the upper division of land in Dighton (so-called), viz., 55–58 (Deeds, Vol. 55, p. 373). Col. Sylvester Richmond[4] acquired considerable property, buying of his brother-in-law, Nathaniel Fisher, in 1735, a tract of land at Stephens' Neck in Dartmouth, and from his father another tract in the same town, upon one or both of which his son Nathaniel afterwards settled.

His son, Col. Ezra was his administrator, in 1784, and his property was inventoried at £800, all real estate.

He was Representative from Dighton in the General Court from 1741 to 1747, and was High Sheriff of the County for many years. He was a colonel in the British Army, and was active in the Spanish and French wars, and distinguished himself at the capture of Cape Breton. He commanded the Sixth Massachusetts Regiment in the campaign against Louisburg, and received the French flag after the capture of the fortress. His son (Col.) Ezra was his aide-de-camp. His commission as colonel was dated February 6, 1744. He was dissatisfied with the management of the siege and the dilatory proceedings of the regular engineer, and proposed a plan — a "coup de main." Accepting his counsel, they made the assault and took the place. His sagacity and bravery won him a high position and great respect. After the capture of Louisburg and Cape Breton, he was invited to England to receive the thanks of the Crown; he declined for himself, but sent his eldest son, Ezra, to King George II, who gave him a commission.

"In 1745, a full company was raised in Plymouth for the expedition against Louisburg, and they were the first who appeared in Boston for that service, with Capt. Sylvanus Cobb and Col. Sylvester Richmond." *

Col. Richmond's former connection with the royal troops did not prevent his sympathizing heartily and deeply with the Colonies in their struggle for independence, and he was painfully grieved that one of his sons, who had been an officer of the Mother Country, felt differently, and refused to join the Revolutionary Army. The old soldier said that if he were ten years younger (being seventy-seven) he should not be found at home at that time.

The following anecdote is told of the Colonel, which may help illustrate his character. The other officers, at the siege of Louisburg, wore the white shirts which they brought from home as long as they were clean, and were then obliged to appear in coarser materials. Col. Richmond carefully saved the shirts his wife had prepared for him before his departure, until the army made its triumphal entrance into the place, and then, to the surprise of his brother officers, appeared in a clean white shirt, — the only man who did so on that occasion.

He was a man of exemplary character, and very generous in promoting religious institutions. His house was the home of ministers. He almost wholly supported the Congregational ministry in the town. The pastor lived at his house without expense. He gave seventy acres of land to the church, from which it is benefited to the present time. The lands were deeded in trust for the church to Amos Wright, Ephraim Hathaway, Sylvester Atwood, Jeremiah Fisher, Sylvester Richmond, 2d, Elkanah Andrews, Sylvester Richmond, 3d, James Andrews, Thomas Baylies Richmond, Trustees.

The following is from his gravestone: —

"In memory of Sylvester Richmond, Esq., who for many yrs. served with great approbation
as Sheriff of the County of Bristol.
Deceased Jany. 14, 1783, in 85th year of his age."

"Elizabeth Richmond, worthy consort of Sylvester Richmond, Esq., who paid the debt of nature June 23, A. D. 1772 in 73d yr. of her age.
Sincerely lamented by her Disconsolate brother and children."

The Town Clerk of Dighton writes as follows: —

"The ruins of the old Silvester Richmond house stand on the north side of Richmond Hill. In my boyhood, it was occupied by two old maids, Sally and Nancy, granddaughters of Sylvester Richmond[4], who removed, I think, to Providence, and died there. The house was afterwards tenanted by various parties, and had the reputation of being haunted. One Irishwoman who lived there tells a story about entering one of the front rooms one day and finding there a company of people, dressed in the costume of the last century, sitting around the table, and who took not the least notice of her. The woman was terribly frightened and moved out of the house as soon as possible. To those who believe in 'materialization' the story may appear credible enough. The cellar of the house has been dug over by treasure-seekers following the directions of clairvoyants, but I presume nothing of value has ever been found."

The following extracts referring to Col. Sylvester Richmond[4] are from the History of Bristol County:—

"The expedition that captured the fortress of Louisburg, on Cape Breton Island, June 17th, 1745, was commanded by a Dighton man, Col. Sylvester Richmond, who was born in 1698, so that he was forty-seven years old when he went on this expedition.

"After his return from the French war, Col. Richmond took a prominent part in town affairs, and was soon appointed high sheriff of Bristol County, holding the office for many years. His father's name was Sylvester, of Little Compton, and he had a son and grandson of that name. His wife's name was Elizabeth, and they had eight children. He was a justice of the peace, and married many couples in Dighton. He died in 1783, aged eighty-four years. His wife died in 1772, at the age of seventy-two. Col. Richmond's house and farm were on the north slope of Richmond Hill, to which his ownership gave the name. It was a picturesque gambrel-roofed old mansion, a generation ago, with an immense fireplace in the kitchen, where, it is said, the Colonel's slaves were wont to gather in cold weather.

"In August, 1779, a committee of twenty-three was chosen to regulate prices of labor and merchandise; among them were Sylvester[4] and his son Ezra Richmond."

154. PELEG RICHMOND[4] (Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., October 25, 1700. He married, December 14, 1727, his cousin, Patience Palmer, daughter of William and Mary (Richmond) Palmer, born February 19, 1704. She died December 27, 1728, and he married, secondly, in January, 1733, Mary Viall, widow of James Viall*, and daughter of John and Mary (Cobham) Pierce. He died August 13, 1783, and she, April 19, 1781, aged seventy-seven years.

His commission from King George II was dated September 1, 1742. He inherited the bulk of his father's property, and was prominent among the men of his time. His will, dated May 29, 1765, proved Sept. 24, 1770 (Vol. 21, p. 397), mentions wife Deborah; sons Joshua, Edward, Perez and Benjamin; and daughters Hannah, wife of David Jacobs; Elizabeth, wife of Joshua Jacobs; Deborah, Mary and Lucy. His homestead was part in Little Compton and part in Westport.

The following is the inscription on Deborah's gravestone: —

"In memory of Deborah, relict of Capt. Perez Richmond of Dartmouth. She departed this life April 24, 1782, in the 72d year of her age.

"Farewell, vain world, thou hast been to me Dust and a shadow; these I leave with thee."

156. (DR.) ICHABOD RICHMOND 4 (Silvester 3, Edward 2, John 1) was born in Little Compton, R. I., February 27, 1704. He married Abigail Ford of Pembroke (banns were published July 30, 1757), and was in Dartmouth (now Westport) when he married. He was a physician in Dartmouth in 1733, in Bristol in 1737, and in Little Compton in 1746. He bought a homestead of Henry Head of Dartmouth. "Dr. Richmond died Sept. 29, 1762" (Bristol Rec.).

CHILD:

+385. NATHANIEL 5, married, 1st, Sally Mann; 2d, Susannah Greene.

His will was made April 3, 1762: "Ichabod Richmond (Physician of Bristol), weak and infirm of body, to wife Abigail, so as to educate my son Nathaniel till he attains the age of 21, also use of one-third part of real estate in Bristol, Little Compton and Dartmouth." Proved November, 1762. Inventory, £3431, 16*s.* 6*d.*

His father, in 1752 (when Ichabod 4 was forty-eight years of age), in his will reserved to Ichabod "a room in the west end of my dwelling house and a bed" — showing that he expected Ichabod would live in his father's house, thus clearly indicating that Ichabod had no family at that time.

Benjamin Cushing, Esq., of Providence, R. I., married Mrs. Abigail Richmond of Bristol, widow of Dr. Ichabod 4, September 11, 1765, who, with Nathaniel, her son, went to Providence.

389. Unnamed son[5], born Aug. 23, ——; died Oct. 31. (Dighton Rec.)

The "History of Bristol County" says that Joanna was born to Ephraim and Ruth (Richmond) Atwood, after her father's death — an evident error.

343. (COLONEL) BARZILLAI RICHMOND[5] (William[4], Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., April 13, 1721, and died January 5, 1796. He married in Providence, November 24, 1743, Sarah, daughter of Ebenezer and Elizabeth Knight, who was born November 21, 1718, and died October 10, 1791.

The following is taken from the tombstone of Colonel Barzillai:

"In Memory of
Col. Barzillai Richmond, who having served his country for many years
in several public stations,
Departed this Life, on the 5th
Day of Jan'y, A. D. 1796,
Aged 74 years, eight
Months & 23 days."

He was one of the seceders from the First Congregational Church on account of Josiah Cotton preaching "damnable good works." The secession was in 1743, and he was one of the small number who formed the Beneficent Congregational Society.

He was in the Canada War during two campaigns, and in 1755, and afterwards was ordered to raise a body of men and proceed to the relief of the British Colonial Army on Lake Champlain. He contracted a disease in one of his legs which made him lame for life. He was at the seige of Ticonderoga under Dalrymple, as Colonel; he was not, however, in the storming party. His brother William, of Little Compton, was with him as volunteer lieutenant.

At one time he received orders late Saturday night. He repaired to his minister's, and had an appropriate sermon preached on Sunday morning; opened a endezvous for enlistment in the afternoon, and in the evening, with a large company, was on his march.

Of the four companies to be raised as a reinforcement to go against Crown Point under Major-General Johnson, he was captain of the fourth company, and was Lieutenant-Colonel in 1758 and 1760. He also held various municipal, civil and State offices. He was a member of the General Assembly of Rhode Island in 1758, May and October, two sessions, and was also member of the Town Council of Providence.

Richmond Street, in Providence, received its name from Colonel Richmond, who, with others, laid it out over what was then called Cow-pen Point to Ship Street. It has been extended since.

—1028. SARAH [6], born Sept. 28, 1758; died Sept. 12, 1785.

There were probably three other children, viz: Barzillai, Samuel and Cyrus. There are two small stones in the graveyard in Providence, R. I., one of which has "Samuel, son of Barzillai, died June 10, 1750"; on the other the name is effaced, but "B. R." on the footstone probably is for Barzillai. There is a small stone near Samuel, probably for an infant, but no name of Cyrus can be found. Sarah Richmond [6] was a woman of rare mental accomplishments.

344. EPHRAIM RICHMOND [5] (William [4], Silvester [3], Edward [2], John [1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., May 5, 1723. He married, January 19, 1744, Elizabeth Cook of Tiverton, who died April, 1797.

He settled with the children in Little Compton in 1743, and the first three children were baptized there. He had a slave who was a hatter, and used to go to Providence and work at his trade, and helped support his owner in his old age.

346. (COL.) WILLIAM RICHMOND[5] (William[4], Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., August 20, 1727. He married Hannah, daughter of Samuel Gray, who was born in 1738, and died January 5, 1812. He died September 23, 1807.

He had no children, and gave his property to his nephew, William Richmond[6], second son of Sylvester Richmond[5].

At the convention of the Governor's Council, as supreme ordinary of the English colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations at Newport, May, 1760, William Richmond, Esq., was one of ten Assistants of Gov. Stephen Hopkins. He was one of the Representatives of the town in 1779; was First Deputy in 1780, '81, '88, '90, '93; Moderator of Town Meeting in 1777, '82, '83, '86, '87, '88 and '91; and on the Committee of Safety for the County of Newport. He served in one or two campaigns in the Canada War, as Lieutenant under his brother, Col. Barzillai; was Lieutenant of a company sent against Crown Point in 1755, and Captain in Col. Champlin's regiment in 1756. He had a command as Colonel in the Revolutionary War, and was Colonel of the State Brigade in 1776; was Military Governor of Newport at one time during the War. He went on a military expedition to Long Island. The British had penetrated to the east part of the Island, and he went, with a detachment of soldiers, from the Connecticut shore, and dispersed them. Col. William Richmond and Gen. Barton, who surprised and took Prescott prisoner, were on terms of closest intimacy. The General was accustomed to spend a part of the summer with Col. Richmond.

The Richmonds freed their slaves before the Revolution, and settled them in Dartmouth Woods. The Richmond Farm, owned and occupied by Col. William Richmond, lies north of the farm now owned by Frederic Brownell, Esq. (which was formerly the property of Judge Perez Richmond), and extends from the road to the Seaconnet River. Here Capt. Edward Richmond (first of the name) settled, died, and was buried. His tombstone is still visible in the old family burying-ground. This farm was in the possession of the family continuously until within a few years. Rev. William Richmond of New York bought two and a half acres of land of Primus Collins, given to him by Col. Richmond, tore the old house down, and made the Richmond Farm complete as it was in the beginning before the Colonel's gift to Collins.

There is a noted and historical place on the farm called Awashonks' Rock, or Treaty Rock (named after Awashonks, the Queen Sachem of the Seaconnet Indians), where Col. Benjamin Church made his treaty with Awashonks in King Philip's War. It was through his means and negotiations that the Indians of Seaconnet were induced to break off their alliance with the Sachem of Mount Hope.*

The following is the inscription upon the tombstone in the old family burial place, located near the house:

"Col. Wm. Richmond, who having served his country in several public stations for many years, departed this life Sept. 23, 1807, 81 years of age."

Col. Richmond was a large man, with very white hair in his old age. He was a gentleman of the old school, but jocose, liberal, and greatly beloved by his family and kindred. He was wealthy, for the times, and one of the first men in the town, very active and public-spirited in all its affairs. Many anecdotes are told of him and his slaves, of which the following may be interesting:

Once, in high party times, Col. Richmond was told by the presiding officer that his vote would be taken out of the ballot-box (though well known since boyhood to every man in the town), because he had not registered his name; the Colonel replied, "If you touch my vote, I shall come down with this cane on your head," at the same time holding the vote in his left hand and the rebellious cane in the right hand. The officer attempted to extract the vote, and the cane came down and hindered the operation. A row ensued, in the midst of which an unexpected combatant appeared. Primus Collins, who had been honored with election to the negro governorship of Rhode Island (an ancient custom in that State), and who was always called Governor Collins, was in the gallery. The white of his eyes and of his teeth were soon visible, and exclaiming, "It is about time for this darkey to drop," he leaped from the gallery into the midst of the combatants, and by means of his black face, sudden appearance, and vigorous

Primus Collins had been a slave of the Colonel, and was subject to twenty-five years' service, but he liberated him and afterwards gave him a farm. Then he became a free voter, by the ownership of land. Col. Richmond took him to the polls and told him to put in his vote. The moderator forbade it, and said he had no right. Col. Richmond drew up his cane, and with a loud voice declared, "That man shall vote"; and he became a voter until his death. Afterwards, however, Isaac Wilbour (who was Chief-Justice and Member of Congress) of Little Compton, got the word "white" inserted in the statute respecting voting. Col. Richmond had another slave named Saul, who had the entire supervision and control of his farm. He found a negro woman and bought her, and had Saul marry her. They had children, one of whom he gave to Rev. Mace Shepard, his minister, and others to some of his friends. One was named Jeffries, in derision of the Chief-Justice of England. Saul was complete master of ceremonies and affairs about the farm. An ox could not be bought without his presence and counsel. Mr. Shaw, a member of the Senate of Rhode Island from Little Compton, said of the Richmonds in Little Compton, "D—d proud family; they esteem their negroes better than common folks."

The Colonel was an ardent patriot and Revolutionist. He resided at one time, about the commencement of the Revolutionary struggle, at the house of his brother Barzillai in Providence, who was a good Deacon, but timid and peace-loving, if he did not in his heart sympathize with the Tories. The good man had family worship regularly every morning. Three days passed. The following morning the Deacon, as usual, had read the Scripture and was rising in order to pray, when the Colonel caught up his famous and trusty cane, and raising it above his head, exclaimed, "Stop!" and added, "I have been here now three days, and every morning you have prayed and haven't mentioned the American Congress, nor prayed for the success of the American arms. Now, by G—d, if you don't this morning, I'll knock you down with the cane when you say 'Amen'." It is said the Colonel was not religious,—but he certainly believed in the efficacy of prayer, and his patriotism was beyond a doubt.

Primus Collins lived in Little Compton many years, and died February 7, 1858, aged eighty-one years. He was highly esteemed, and was a worthy and pious man. His daughter married Charles Simmons, and lived at one time at the head of Middle Street, New Bedford, Mass.

347. (JUDGE) PEREZ RICHMOND[5] (William[4], Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., October 13, 1728–9, and died November 23, 1800–1. He married, February 3, 1754, Mercy, daughter of Thomas and Edith (Woodman) Church, who was born September 18, 1734, and died October 24, 1813.

He was appointed to enlist minute-men in Little Compton, June, 1775. He held various offices in town, and was a leading and influential man; was Auditor of town accounts; was Moderator of town meetings in 1784, '85, '89, '90, '93, and '94; also Judge of Probate Court, and President of Town Council. He was a mild old gentleman, fond of children, and popular. He lived fifty or sixty years opposite the head of Meeting-House Lane, the place now owned by Fred. R. Brownell, Esq. (1895).

He was quartermaster and enlisting officer for Little Compton in 1759, and was one of a committee "who shall use diligence to procure arms and accoutrements" in 1776. He was killed by falling from his horse.

He was a Colonel, and served in the French and Indian Wars with his father. He was in the British Army, and attained the rank of Captain, being the oldest Captain in the British line. He sold out his priority for a large sum. He was Representative from Dighton in the General Court in 1752, '53, and '54, and in 1765, '66, '67, and Town Treasurer in 1767. He was strong-minded, resolute and influential, and some of his descendants mention the big wig he wore, and his aristocratic bearing. He received a commission from King George II in person in England, on account of his father's and his own services at Louisburg. He always wore a cocked hat and silver buckles.

His wife was a charming English lady, sister of Nicholas Baylies.

November 7, 1797, Widow Abigail Richmond was appointed guardian of her son Sylvester[6], on account of his incapacity. Sylvester[6] fell from a cherry-tree and received injuries which affected his mind.

Lieut.-Col. Sylvester Richmond died without making a will, and his widow, Abigail, applied to the Judge of Probate to have William Baylies appointed administrator. The division of the real and personal estate was made among the children in 1798, and the wife received her third.

The daughters, Sarah[6] and Nancy[6], lived at the old homestead in Dighton many years. Their beautiful garden abounded in lovely flowers and luscious fruit, which were a great temptation to the boys in the neighborhood, and caused many a war of words. The urchins called Sarah "Old Sale-ratus"; and the positive orders of Nancy were referred to as the edicts of Nantes. The sisters removed to Providence, R. I., and died there.

363. HANNAH RICHMOND[5] (Sylvester[4], Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Dighton, Mass., September 17, 1731. She married (banns published January 16, 1752) Joseph Andrews of Hingham, Mass., who was born July 31, 1731, and died Nov. 22, 1777. She died June 27, 1815. He was a farmer in Hingham, Mass.

1121. JANE ANDREWS[6], born Aug. 1, 1755; married, March 1, 1772, Samuel Norton, who descended from Rev. John Norton of Hingham. He was nephew of Rev. John Norton of Ipswich and Boston, whose genealogy can be traced distinctly to the time of William the Conqueror. They had the following children, viz.:

(1) (REV.) JOHN NORTON[7]: was for forty-two years pastor of the First Religious Society in Newburyport. He was born March 3, 1774, and died Aug. 17, 1845.

(2) JANE NORTON[7]: married Thomas Wigglesworth of Boston, who was born in 1776, and died April 27, 1855. He was one of the oldest and wealthiest merchants of the city, and one of the last surviving who commenced business before the present century. She died at her residence in Franklin Place, December 9, 1856, "a lady who will be greatly missed for long-continued charities and uniform benevolence." (Gen. Reg.) "She was a very intelligent old lady of the old school."

(3) SAMUEL NORTON[7].

(4) ANDREWS NORTON[7]: was a graduate of Harvard College in 1804, and for many years distinguished for great literary attainments. He was one of the most eminent scholars and theologians of the Unitarian denomination. He was a clergyman in Salem for several years, and afterwards Divinity professor at Harvard College. He was father of the present Charles Eliot Norton, professor of Fine Arts at Harvard.

1122. JOSEPH ANDREWS[6], born Aug. 5, 1757; died Nov. 2, 1777. At the age of nineteen he entered the Revolutionary Army. On one occasion he, with two other young men about his own age, got possession of a piece of artillery and drew it to an eminence commanding the road upon which a considerable body of Hessians were marching to join the main army of the enemy. They prevented them from doing so by this skilful manœuvre. Gen. Washington, in his supervision of the action of the day, noticed the service of the young men, and directed the commanding officer of the regiment to send for them, and, by conversation, to ascertain what situations they were capable of filling, and to give to each such a commission as was suited to his capacity. A lieutenant's commission was given to each. At the battle of Brandywine, the captain of the company to which Lieutenant Andrews belonged was killed early in the action, and he took command. He was soon wounded and carried off the field, and died shortly after of his wounds. Gen. Lafayette, on his last visit to this country, said to Rev. John Andrews of Newburyport, that he remembered his brother Joseph perfectly, and intended to have called on him during his illness, but his own wounds were not healed sufficiently to enable him to go out before he heard of his death.

He entered college, but did not graduate, on account of "sowing too many wild oats." He was a captain in the French Wars, although very young. He was at the taking of Quebec, and stood by the side of Gen. Wolfe when he fell. John Richmond Decker, a great-grandson of John[5], has a "Gazetteer of the World," printed about 1772. On the margin of the page where an account is given of the taking of Quebec, the following is written: "I was at ye taking of Quebec by Gen. Wolfe, as brave a Commander indeed as ever came from old England. (signed) John Richmond."

He was a gentleman of education, and an excellent linguist; he had great kindness of heart, and in his office as High Sheriff he paid debt after debt, rather than distress the debtor, until his generosity ruined him, and he died poor.

He was a gentleman of the old school and of that day. He was a farmer, and was Sheriff in Dighton and Westport. After his marriage he removed to Westport, Mass., thence to New York State, in 1795.

He was in the battle of Bunker Hill, and was also Sheriff of Bristol County during the time of the Revolution, and as such paid his respects to the commander of the French fleet, Count de Grasse, when he entered Newport Harbor during the War. "Presented to a distant friend.
Our compliments to you we send,
Long time you have left our native state,
Long time have we been separate;
Yet friendship lives without abate

Through all the changes that we've passed,
Our time quite spent, but sliding fast,
We've passed our threescore years and ten,
No more to be as we have been.

Soon we must leave this slender stage,
Each fleeting hour adds to our age.
Not lacking faith, O may we go,
Disburdened from this world of woe."

Abodes, where she is now reaping the Reward of her virtuous conduct.

"All ye who virtue love, who worth revere,
Drop o'er this grave a sympathizing tear.
To these remains were joined a virtuous mind,
A tender-feeling heart, a soul refined,
A temper mild, benevolent and kind.

They still exist and mock the power of Death.
Then tho' entombed her Body here doth rest,
Talbot still lives, she lives supremely Blest."

He was faithful to every trust committed to him. In his early life, being in the city of Liverpool, he was impressed into the British service, and put on board a line-of-battle ship. He was with Lord Nelson in the great naval engagement of Trafalgar in 1805. He was sent ashore at Cadiz, two days after the battle, and often related how he found the beach strewn with the bodies of those who were killed and thrown overboard during the battle, and cast upon the beach by the sea to the number of several thousands. After a service of two years, he obtained release through the efforts of his brother-in-law, Mr. Jones of Dighton, who had learned of his capture.

Once, when navigating a brig to the West Indies, she was taken by a British sloop-of-war, and a prize-master with six men put in charge to sail her into Halifax. On the passage, although they left only one man and a boy of his crew on board, he managed to retake her, and brought the vessel safely into an American port. After leaving the sea he spent most of his life in Elizabeth City, N. C.

At the age of eighteen years, he left Dartmouth for Western New York, then a wilderness, and settled in Aurora on the east side of Cayuga Lake, May 15, 1792. Having no patrimony, but a strong arm, undaunted energy, and firm purpose, he labored with the axe for a livelihood, and thus laid the foundations of a western home and prosperity. He accumulated a large estate. He was appointed by Gov. John Jay, April 2, 1796, Paymaster, and by Gov. Lewis, May 19, 1808, Captain of a company of the New York State Militia; February 13, 1809, he was appointed by Gov. Daniel D. Tompkins, High Sheriff of Cayuga County, and was reappointed, February 28, 1810, and February 5, 1811; February 24, 1817, President Madison made him Collector of Direct Taxes and Internal Duties for the Twenty-third Collection District of New York. He was also appointed Judge, but did not accept the office. In 1819, he was elected a Member of Congress, and was in the House of Representatives during the contest for the admission of Missouri, and the adoption of the Missouri Compromise. His service was honorable to himself and to his constituents.

Mr. Richmond was a man of great muscular powers, strong constitution, united with a well-balanced mind stored with much practical knowledge of men and things. He was six feet, six inches in height, erect and active, prompt and faithful in the discharge of every duty. He enjoyed an extensive acquaintance among men of all parties, both in the State and Nation, and during his public life was regarded as one of the prominent and leading men of his party. He assisted in building three academies and two churches in Aurora, and contributed largely to all public improvements.

The following notice of Hon. Jonathan Richmond was published in the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Enquirer: —

"We regret to learn of the decease of Capt. Jonathan Richmond of Aurora, N.Y., and father of Hon. W. A. Richmond of this city. He died on the 29th ultimo, aged seventy-nine years. Capt. Richmond was one of the oldest residents of Western New York, having moved to Aurora, Cayuga County, as early as 1792, and consequently had resided there sixty-one years. He was for many years a prominent and leading man in that State, and held various public offices under Governors Jay, Lewis, Tompkins and Clinton, and under President Madison. He was also a member of the 16th Congress, elected in 1818. In 1820, he was renominated and defeated. He was a high-minded, honorable man, with great general knowledge, wide experience, and winning social qualities, which endeared him to a large circle of friends. His visits to our city (then a village) will be remembered with pleasure by many of our citizens."

The Rhode Island Prisoner.

SONNET.

The Prison-Ship! — a tomb of living men,
Living in death, and longing but to die;
Or, ghastlier, the rebel prison pen,
The foulest spot beneath the patient sky.
Both these have proved undaunted Yankee hearts,
Yet in their sad extremity forlorn,
Kind nature solaced with her tenderest arts
Those faithful souls by wasting torture torn.
For some Rhode Island captive, as he lay,
Saw in his sleep, with eager joy elate,
The level shores of Narragansett Bay,
And the plain landscape of his native State,
While his pale, dreaming lips did softly ope,
And murmur low her flag's dear legend, "HOPE."

He married, secondly, April 7, 1815, Mrs. Henrietta (Shaw) Bours, daughter of Capt. William Shaw of Newport, R. I.; she died June 17, 1849.

He entered the sophomore class of Brown University at the age of sixteen years, and graduated in 1794. He studied for the medical profession with his father, and began the practice of his profession near Newport, R. I., where he remained eighteen years. He removed to Providence, R. I., where he was a well-known and highly honored physician for thirty-two years.

His hobby was the State debt of Rhode Island, and he was author of a work entitled "Rhode Island Repudiation, or the History of the Revolutionary Debt." He petitioned Congress again and again to wipe out this stigma, and to give the State the little sum so justly her due. He would not bury his wife in the State because the debt due those who had fought, bled and died to secure her freedom had been repudiated by Rhode Island.

The following obituary is from the Providence Daily Transcript of March 16, 1857:—

"Dr. John Wilkes Richmond, of Providence, died last week in Philadelphia on his way home from Washington. The Doctor was an enterprising man, and whatever he turned his attention to he followed up with indomitable energy and perseverence. He has long been at war with our State on account of her repudiation of her old State debt of the Revolution, and carried his antipathy so far that he purchased a burial lot in Stonington, Conn., and donated $500 to the town to keep it in perpetual repair, that his remains might rest in soil uncontaminated by forgetfulness of the services of the men of the Revolution. In compliance with his wish, his body was placed, a few days since, in his selected retreat. About a mile north of Stonington, on the road leading to Norwich, may be seen the granite pillar that marks his resting-place. Dr. Richmond was eminent in his profession, and extensively known and respected, and his death is regretted, although he had attained the ripe age of 82 years."

The following is a copy of a part of the inscription on his monument:—

"When Rhode Island, by her legislature from 1844 to 1850
her Revolutionary Debt, Dr. Richmond removed from that State to this Borough and selected this as his family burying place, unwilling that the remains of himself and family should be disgraced by being a part of the common earth of a Repudiating State."

He married, August 26, 1818, Lois Pierce, daughter of George and Mary (Pierce) Stiles; she was born January 13, 1802, at Barnett, Vt., and died at Cedar Springs, Mich., December 17, 1888, aged eighty-six years, eleven months, four days. He died at the same place, July 11, 1883.

When quite young, he settled with his parents in Leroy, Genesee County, N. Y., which was at that time a wilderness. In 1813, or 1814, he, and his two brothers, Preserved and Ezra, served in the "War of 1812" at Niagara, for which service he was granted a land warrant for one hundred and sixty acres of Government land and a pension. When about twenty-one years old, he located on one hundred and sixty acres of Government land near Leroy, N. Y., and "with only his axe, hammer and beetle," and youthful energy, commenced to hew himself a home, to which he soon brought his bride, then only sixteen years old. In this home their seven children were born, and all but Orlin D. lived to have families of their own. In 1839 they sold their farm, and moved with a colony from Leroy and Rochester to Clinton County, Mich., where he again settled on Government land. Another farm was soon cleared, and they lived here until 1866, when they removed to Cedar Springs, Mich., where, surrounded by his children and grandchildren, he died at the age of eighty-eight years. His wife died five years later, aged nearly eighty-seven years. On her father's side, she was descended from Robert Stiles of Boxford, Mass. (1660); and her father's father, Caleb Stiles, and her mother's father, Ephraim Pierce, went together from Hollis, N.H., and served through the War of the Revolution, for which pensions were granted them by the town of Hollis.

He was a man of perfect integrity, strict morality, temperate, affectionate, and devoted to his family. She was distinguished for unusual powers of mind, refinement, and elegance of manner, and especially for her wisdom and boundless sympathies, which were a constant source of blessing and consolation to all around her. Both notable for the best qualities of manhood and womanhood, and ever exhibiting the tenderest devotion to each other, their lives were a most beautiful example to their children and grandchildren, and exercised a profound influence, which is still cherished by their descendants. Age dealt gently and beautifully with both, and she retained all her faculties vigorous to the last.

She was born April 22, 1829, and died February 28, 1891.

"Gen. Lewis Richmond died in Flushing, New York, early Saturday morning. Gen. Richmond was born in 1824 in this city, and was the son of S. N. Richmond. His early life was spent here, where he attended the public schools and Brown University. After engaging in the dry-goods business with his brother on North Main Street for a number of years, he removed to Bristol, where he remained until the opening of the war.

"The public life of Gen. Richmond deserves more than passing notice. Very shortly after the breaking out of the Civil War he enlisted, in April, 1861, as a private in the First Rhode Island Regiment, a three months' regiment, and was present at the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861. After the termination of the three months' service for which he had enlisted, he was commissioned by the President of the United States as Assistant Adjutant-General on the General Staff of Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside.

"He was Adjutant-General of the North Carolina (or Burnside) Expedition, and was present at the naval engagement, February 7, 1862, between the Confederate gunboats and forts and the Union gunboats at Roanoke. He was also engaged in the battle of Roanoke Island, February 8, 1862; was present at the battle of New Berne, March 14, 1862, and at the bombardment of Fort Macon, April 26, 1862. He was Adjutant-General of Reinforcements for the Army of the Potomac, at Newport News, from July 6 to September 4, 1862.

"In March, 1862, Gen. Richmond was promoted to the rank of Major, and on the organization of the Ninth Army Corps, July 22, 1862, he was appointed its Adjutant-General with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. From September 4 to September 15, 1862, he was Adjutant-General of the right wing of the Army of the Potomac, and was engaged in the battle of South Mountain, September 14, 1862, and in the battle of Antietam, September 17, 1862. He was Adjutant-General of the Army of the Potomac from November 10, 1862, to January 10, 1863. He was present at the battle of Fredericksburg, December 13 to 16, 1862.

"In the Department of the Ohio he was Adjutant-General from March 25, 1863, to December 12, 1863. During the pursuit and capture of Morgan's raiders in July and August, 1863, he was engaged in the occupation of East Tennessee, and was present at the capture of Cumberland Gap, September 10; the action of Blue Springs, October 10; the skirmish of Hough's Ferry; the action of Lenoir's, November 15; the combat of Campbell's Station, November 16; the defence of Knoxville, November 17 to December 10; and the repulse of the assault by Gen. Longstreet, December 1, 1863.

"From January 12 to April 13, 1864, he was Adjutant-General of recruiting, Ninth Army Corps, and as Adjutant-General of that corps was engaged in the battle of the Wilderness, May 6, 1864; of Spottsylvania, May 9 to 12; of North Anna, May 24; of Toloptomy, June 1; of Bethesda Church, June 2; of Cold Harbor, June 13 to 17; and at the siege of Petersburg from June 18 to the mine assault, July 30, 1864.

"The foregoing does not include minor conflicts and noted marches, as well as experiences on the ocean, rivers and sounds. Gen. Richmond was brevetted three times for gallant and meritorious conduct on the field. Immediately after the close of the war he resigned with the rank of Brigadier-General.

"The consular and diplomatic career of Gen. Richmond is quite as deserving of notice as are his military services. In 1875 he was appointed United States Consul at Queenstown, Ireland, and held this office not far from five years. In 1880 he was appointed United States Consul at Belfast, Ireland, and in 1881 was promoted to the position of Consul-General at Rome. In 1882 he was appointed also Secretary of the United States Legation at Rome, and the Minister having died, became Chargé d'Affaires ad interim.

"In 1884 he was appointed Minister Resident of the United States near the King of Portugal, and held this position till the change of administration, March 4, 1885, when his resignation was tendered and accepted in May, 1885. He at once returned to Bristol. Later he removed to Flushing, Long Island, N. Y." — Providence Sunday Journal, February 4, 1894.

He was Superintendent of Indian Affairs under President Polk; Mayor of Grand Rapids; two years in the State Senate, 1844–45; cashier of Grand River Bank. He, with Judge Carroll, Judge Almy of Geneseo, and Judge Lyon of Herkimer, N. Y., purchased and laid out the "Kent Plat." He was one of the members of the first Board of Village Trustees, and the construction of the first lattice bridge across the Grand River was accomplished largely by his efforts; he was also president of the company which owned it. He was one of the proprietors of the first plank road between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, and, years later, of a railroad to the same place. He was also one of the enterprising men who erected the gas-works, and was active in advancing the interests of education and religion, contributing toward the erection of several churches, and the establishing of St. Mary's College, and, for many years, was an active member and vestryman in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, under the Rev. Dr. F. H. Cuming. He was frequently chosen to represent his townsmen in government affairs. In 1836 he was a delegate to the first "Convention of Assent," which rejected the conditions proposed by Congress for the admission of Michigan to the Union. Mr. Richmond was twice commissioned Brigadier-General of the State Militia. In the discharge of official duties he made an enviable record for efficiency and faithfulness, and, in the relation of citizen, his enterprise and sound judgment gave him high rank among the pioneers who shaped the character and destiny of the Valley City.

3087. (HON.) ISAAC BAILEY RICHMOND[7] (Joshua[6], Joshua[5], Perez[4], Silvester[3], Edward[2], John[1]) was born in Little Compton, R. I., June 14, 1798, and died there October 2, 1888. He married, September 30, 1823, Abigail, daughter of Hon. John and Lois (Taylor) Brown of Little Compton, where she was born September 15, 1803, and died July 14, 1884. He was apprenticed in Providence, at the age of fourteen, to one of the foremost architects and builders of the country, and was appointed to superintend the erection of the Independent Presbyterian Church in Savannah, Ga., when nineteen years old. He engaged in business in Savannah soon after, as architect, contractor and merchant, and remained there twenty years. He returned to Little Compton on account of the health of his wife, and lived in the old homestead of Rev. Mase Shepherd, which he had purchased for a summer residence while living in Savannah. When leaving the South, he gave his slaves their freedom, and brought several of them to his Northern home, where they were household servants for many years.* He soon after engaged in business in New Bedford, Mass., as agent and proprietor of whaling vessels, and continued these commercial relations for thirty years, Little Compton still being his home. Aside from his private business, he was interested in many corporate enterprises. He was projector, and for nineteen years president of the Tiverton and Little Compton Mutual Fire Insurance Company, and director of the Commercial Insurance Company of New Bedford. He was a Whig and Republican in politics. He represented his district in the State Senate in 1870 and 1871; was Notary Public, President of the Town Council, and filled other township offices. He was, for fifty years, deacon of the United Congregational Church, and one of its most staunch and generous supporters. His most marked characteristics were a firm, undeviating loyalty to truth and justice, and honorable methods in all things. He was a liberal contributor to many religious and charitable societies, and a life-member of many of them. He established the Richmond Academy, erected a suitable building, and sustained the school for a period of years, for the benefit of his own and other children. "Deacon Richmond has ever held an honored place in the respect and confidence of his fellow-citizens. It would be a long story to tell of his deeds of charity. To few persons is given the opportunity for such extended usefulness, and to still less, the ability to fill each position with such efficiency."† He was a refined and courtly

*The compiler of this genealogy has grateful remembrances of his old negro "Mammy," Mary Frances; of his first gold ring, which she gave to him, and of a sailor suit which she made, when she taught him to dance tne "hornpipe," which accomplishment, much to her glee, was exhibited on "state occasions." Another slave, Fred Burley, went to California in 1849, with "Massa Henry," the eldest son, as valet; he had the "gold fever," and deserted his master soon after his arrival, and went to "the gold diggings." He was a wonderful marksman, almost equal to his master, and later became the chief of an Indian tribe.

CHILD BY SECOND MARRIAGE:

6630. DEAN RICHMOND CHESTER[9], born about 1845.

3737. DEAN RICHMOND[8] (Hathaway[7], Josiah[6], Josiah[5], Josiah[4], Edward[3], John[2], John[1]) was born in Barnard, Vt., March 31, 1804. He married, in Troy, N. Y., February 19, 1833, Mary Elizabeth Mead, who was born in Troy, June 21, 1813, and died in Batavia, N. Y., April 6, 1895. She was the daughter of Hathaway Mead, and granddaughter of Jasper Mead, an officer in the Revolutionary Army, and one of the founders of the Society of the Cincinnati. Her mother was Electa Dauchy Mead. The father was of English, and the mother of French extraction.

Dean Richmond was of Syracuse, N. Y., when married, and engaged in the salt industry. He removed to Buffalo in 1842 and returned to Syracuse a year later. In 1846 he removed to Attica, where he resided seven years. Batavia, N. Y., became his residence May 31, 1853, and was his home for thirteen years, until his death, which occurred August 27, 1866, at the house of Hon. Samuel J. Tilden in Gramercy Park, New York City, after his return from the Democratic convention at Saratoga.

Mr. Tilden said of him, "I remember very well, in 1864, when the nation was anxiously looking for a candidate for the highest office in its gift, public opinion turned very generally toward Dean Richmond, but he firmly and persistently refused to entertain the idea. It is my firm conviction that, except for that refusal, his nomination was entirely possible, and his election extremely probable. I think he was one of the best informed and ablest men whom I have ever had the opportunity to know."

The "Albany Argus," in an obituary, said: "He made for himself a national reputation, and became one of the most marked and influential men of his time. He infused life and energy into every project within his grasp, and became the master of every enterprise in which he engaged. His presence never failed to be inspiring. As a business man Mr. Richmond ranked among the most successful in the country. For years he was Director of the Rochester and Buffalo Railroad, and at the consolidation of the line from Albany west was elected Vice-President of the New York Central Railroad, the Hon. Erastus Corning being President. On the resignation of Mr. Corning, Mr. Richmond was chosen to succeed him. He was also President of the State Line Railroad. His business connections with the West were of an important and widespread character. His control over the commerce of the lakes was almost unlimited, and he was almost as well known in the West as in the cities of his own State. The great business enterprises with which his name was connected will feel the want of his energy and organization, which was equal to any emergency. Hundreds of young men who have been aided in business through his friendship and advice will long cherish his memory; while the poor, who have profited so largely by his unpretending yet princely generosity, will mourn his loss as irreparable."

As a business woman Mrs. Richmond was alert, keen and sagacious. She skillfully directed the management of the extensive property left by Dean Richmond, aided in recent years by her daughter, Mrs. Adelaide R. Kenny, and the vast interests were cared for so wisely and well that they grew largely in value. The estate left by Mrs. Richmond, with the advancements made to her children, amounted to nearly six million dollars.

During Buchanan's administration he held the office of Postmaster, and, at the breaking out of the War of the Rebellion, he attempted to raise a company (having had the promise of a captain's commission under Col. Sayles), but not succeeding in this as soon as he desired, he reported to the front and served as a private in the Battle of Fredericksburg, in which his intimate friend and commander, Col. Sayles, was killed. The night after the battle he, with two or three others, returned to the battle-field to secure the body of Col. Sayles, which, at great personal peril, they succeeded in doing. Soon after he had entered the ranks, in the Seventh Rhode Island Infantry, he was promoted to regimental postmaster, and, at the time of the formation of Burnside's division, he was promoted to postal agent of that division, which office he held until he was honorably discharged at the end of the War. He was in service over four years." I. C. W.
